

Tracy Lockwood is the Founder of PLAY Education Consulting. She is a certified K-12 Physical Education Teacher and has over 20 years of experience as an educator. Her teaching experience includes working with K-12 students in Alberta, Canada and in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates. She was employed as a provincial education coordinator for nearly 10 years where she facilitated hundreds of workshops for thousands of professionals at the local, provincial, national and international level. Her provincial lens brought many opportunities to write, edit and review resources for Health and Physical Education organizations and Government Ministries. As a Master Trainer for the National Coaching Certification Program and DANCEPL3Y, her skills are vast. Tracy is a lifelong learner and has completed her Masters in Educational Leadership from the University of Portland. She has a passion for all things physical education, physical literacy and physical activity. Specifically, she loves working with teachers, developing quality physical education lessons and inspiring children & youth to participate in physical activity.
